HEARINGS

THE NATIONAL UNION OF CHIROPRACTORS CHIROPRACTIC REGISTRATION ACT

CO0819065

I did not intend to raise this question. Every prompted me to do this question up, and since you are here, would you tell us more about it?

You are familiar with the Andean Incident?

Mr. Hixson. Yes, sir, but the agency was not using ITT for its own purposes.

The Chairman. Gathering of information, anyone. In that case, what is your way to put it?

Mr. Hixson. Well, I have no doubt in the course of discussions and negotiations between members of the Embassy and ITT and American and other foreign companies that information was exchanged back and forth. There is no doubt of that, but this hardly represents espionage.

The Chairman. I must say it is hard to say what espionage is. Espionage, as I understand it, is being prosecuted for espionage. Well, it is hard for me to see it is espionage, but it is very difficult to define what semantics have become impossible. All I meant was gathering of information.

What do you mean by espionage?

Mr. Hixson. Well, sir, espionage, in the definition that we give to it, is the hiring of an individual to acquire information without his knowing that the individual is (a) acquiring the information or (b) what he represents.

ROLES OF CIA AND WATERGATE INVESTIGATORS

The Chairman. That reminds me of another matter you might want to clarify and comment on.

It seems that several of the people involved in the buying of the Watergate were former CIA men.

Mr. Hixson. Formally, yes, sir. They were retired, they left the CIA and have no control over anybody who has left.

The Chairman. I know you do not. I am just asking you whether it is true that they were former CIA men.

Mr. Hixson. Yes, sir, Hunt was, and McCord was.

The Chairman. They were both former CIA. It was clear, I think, in the paper that they were no longer in your employ.

Mr. Hixson. They had been, both been retired at least 2 years.

The Chairman. Two years.

CIA AND NATIONAL STUDENTS ASSOCIATION

Finally, in this respect some years ago you heard some stories about the CIA and the National Students Association. All of them have been cleared up, right?

What is the present status?

Mr. Hixson. It has totally been cleared up, ever since the new headquarters which have been taken over by the CIA, and the CIA has cleared up everything.

The Chairman. It is all cleared up?

Mr. Hixson. Yes, sir.

CIA DISENGAGEMENT FROM RADIO FREE EUROPE

The Chairman. You formerly financed, I believe, to a sum of about 80 or 85 percent, Radio Free Europe. Did you do that?

Mr. Hixson. Yes, sir.
